PRESIDENT'S REPORT

I hope this message finds you all safe, in good health and good spirits.

This past year has been unprecedented on so many levels. From the outbreak of a pandemic and a nation-wide lockdown, through to extraordinary fires here in Australia, protests around racism and inequality, or the largest economic and social crisis our nation has ever experienced.

It has been unprecedented as well in the demands all these overlapping crises have placed upon us all, personally and professionally. Not a day has gone by when we have not been negatively affected by what we experience in our day-to-day lives, what we see on televisions, or what we come across on our social media feeds.

Yet at the same time, one of the things that has given me hope during this period is the many interactions I have had with many of you online, with our team at the Executive Committee and with our many partners. Your positive and enthusiastic responses to the changes that we have had to institute here at the UNAAWA have renewed my sense of optimism, and reinforced our belief that it is more important than ever that we continue to learn and practice solidarity and kindness.

I can say with all honesty my first term as President has been full of trials and surprises. We began the year with a well thought out and exciting timeline for events covering all the major issues we care so much about. From the environment to education, sustainable development through to gender equality, 2020 was going to be a year of renewal with our values and of trying new and intriguing ways of connecting with you all.

However, COVID-19 changed all that. For very good reason, many events were cancelled or postponed to exercise duty of care to our volunteers, members and community supporters. Yet many great ideas were also presented to the Executive Committee to ensure that we could continue to serve your needs, and because of that I am confident that we are already well on the way to forging a stronger and more united UNAAWA.

At the start of my mandate we identified three core pillars which we wanted to further develop. The first was fundraising, to strengthen the reserves of the organization and ensure our ability to operate on your behalf. The second pillar was the reinforcement of our stakeholder engagement and partnerships, which have been a source of success in the past and which have the potential to truly elevate the UNAAWA as a trusted voice for sustainable development in the eyes of the public. Finally, enhanced communication was our third pillar and our best tool to ensure all our members and partners feel connected to our work and see the value in it. On all three points, and despite the difficult circumstances, I believe you'll find that we have delivered and, in some cases, surpassed our expectations.

The shift to online events afforded us the opportunity to engage much more with many of you who might otherwise have been unable to attend our traditional events. Being able to archive many of our webinars, interviews and talks on our Facebook page means that any of you can watch them at a time of your own choosing, and I invite you to do so when you can.

This has led to an increased engagement with our events compared to before, and many of you have told me about the tears you have shed listening to some of our talks, or your sense of hope at realizing that there is a lot we can do to create positive impacts.

Over the past several months, we have interviewed a variety of inspiring figures here in Australia and around the world. We heard from Nyoognar Elder, Ben Taylor AM, on his captivating story of overcoming injustices and gaining hope for Indigenous lives in Australia. On the same subject of discrimination, especially due to the rise of anti-Asian sentiment because of the pandemic, we heard from the Australian Race Discrimination Commissioner Mr Chin Tan on what we can all do to help move towards a more inclusive society in Australia.

Our Series on "COVID-19's Impact in Australia" looked at the impact the pandemic has had in the areas of human rights and gender rights in WA and Australia more broadly. They brought together lawyers, academics and key practitioners to examine the consequences of the pandemic, whether the response has so far been effective, and what can be done moving forward.

In addition, to get a better sense of the impact of the COVID-19 crisis on the world of work, I was pleased to interview a fellow Australian at the International Labour Organization (ILO) in Geneva, Dr Sher Verick, who shared with us the latest data on the labour market and the recommended policies of the ILO to help protect workers worldwide.

Interview with Nyoognar Elder, Uncle Ben Taylor, AM, Death in Custody Committee Co-Chair on Black Lives Matter.

Interview with Australian Race Discrimination Commissioner, Mr. Chin Tan on anti-discrimination during pandemic.

Interview with International Labour Organisation (ILO), Dr Sher Verick on global labour crisis and situation due to COVID.

Further events on Gender Equality explored gender and leadership, how to support young women in leadership positions, and general information about representation and positions of power. While our SDG Business Forums series on “Business Transformation to Achieve the SDGs” at EY and "Accelerating Innovation & SDGs" brought together local business leaders to share how they take leadership in achieving SDGs and how they have been innovating their way through this crisis.

These are just a sample of the many events that took place online, and as circumstances have improved here in Western Australia we have already begun meeting again in person. From networking events to fundraising events, it has been a relief to see so many of you healthy and well.

I therefore am sure that I speak for all of us in saying that this year’s United Nations Day event will be especially special as an opportunity to come together and celebrate the organization we so admire, and an organization that matters so much more in these challenging time. I therefore invite as many of you as possible to join us on the 23rd of October at the Duxton Hotel for the 75th Anniversary of the UN.

In addition, I am proud to announce another milestone; a partnership between the UNAAWA and the Rotary Club of Perth. This partnership will create many new opportunities for both our organisations in networking, volunteering and fundraising, and therefore enable us to expand our social impact in supporting humanitarian causes, peace advocacy and spreading kindness, which is needed more than ever in times of crisis.

FINANCIAL OUTLOOK

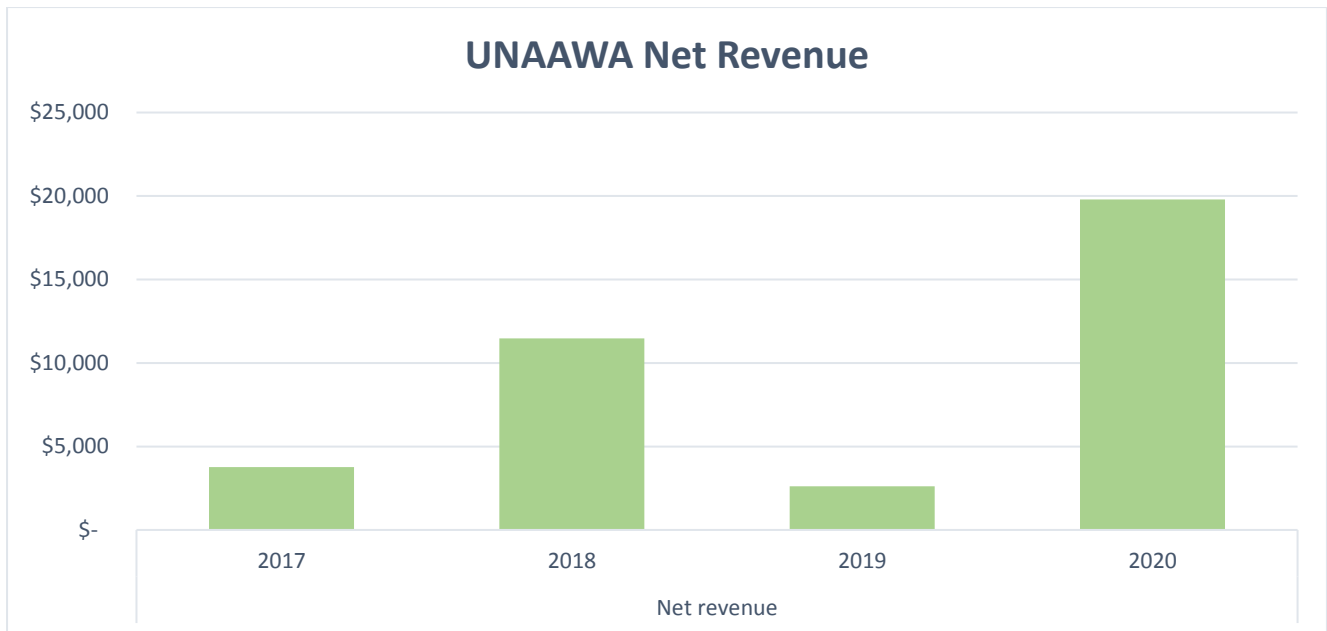

In other good news, the reserves of the association continue to grow year on year. The important security of funds in 2020 was made possible thanks to the COVID-19 relief grant won from Lotterywest, combined with implementing several stop-loss and cost containment measures. We expect that the effects of these measures to have long term cost benefits over the foreseeable future.

The net revenue has drastically increased between 2019 and 2020. This is partly due to the success of the fundraising events, amongst others the UN Day and the SDG Business Forums in the last 18 months.

Further, most events held during the year have at a minimum broke even. The net revenue increase is also attributable to the office lease termination and cost reduction measures such as moving to VOIP and virtual offices, taken as a proactive response against the negative economic impacts of COVID-19.

Despite the restrictions imposed by COVID-19 which led to inability to hold physical events between March to August, the strong financial performance of the association prior to the COVID-19 pandemic has allowed the organisation to maintain a stable and solvent status this year and in the next 12 months.

The fundraising income (including grants) has increased by 44% compared to the 2019 financial year. This improvement is partially attributable to the successful UN Day event held in October 2019, which generated close to $11,000. The event was partially supported by Lotterywest, which granted the association an amount of $18,500. This has also been possible thanks to the other fundraising efforts performed throughout the year such as the SDG Business Forums generating a net revenue of close to $5,000 in the last 18 months

Despite the challenges the pandemic brought to the fundraising landscape, the income stream coming from the membership fees has remained stable in the 2020 financial year.

The donations remain low in 2020 in terms of dollar value; however, the income level has increased by 252% compared to 2019. We expect that the income generated from donations will increase in the upcoming financial year, as donations can now be made through the association's website (previously donations could only be made via National site, bank transfer, cash or cheque).

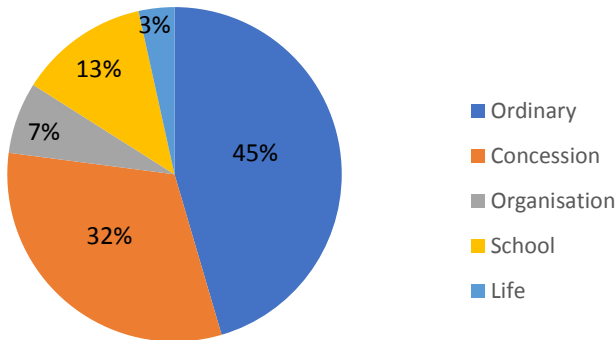

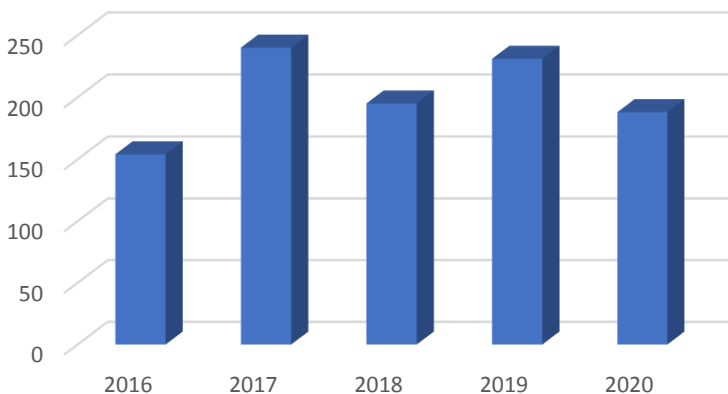

2020 Memberships per type

2019 Memberships per type

Number of memberships per year

The distribution of memberships remains consistent with the previous financial year, with the most popular membership category being the ordinary members, followed by the concessional members.

The organisational membership type includes members from the corporate, government, and non-for-profit sectors, as well as universities.

The number of memberships has remained relatively consistent over the years, with a small decrease in 2020.

Despite the Covid-19 pandemic, the Association has been able to maintain a strong membership base by providing member with value through our educational, advocacy and cause promotion work through online events and programs. We've also maintained close ties with members and partners by informing, updating and engaging them through newsletters and holding virtual panels sessions and interviews that are current and relevant to the public's interests.

This past year has also led to many changes in the running of the UNAAWA. Several team leaders have understandably moved on to study commitments and job opportunities, but we have also seen an extraordinary influx of new talents joining us and contributing to our mission with exciting ideas. Our new Human Rights committee, for example, is now the most diverse one in the history of our association.

Finally, I would like to acknowledge that none of the above would have been possible without the tireless work of our many volunteers, sponsors and partners. The UNAAWA is an entirely volunteer-run organization, which nonetheless operates with a degree of professionalism and dedication that makes me proud.

I would therefore like to thank all members of the leadership team in the Executive Committee. Special thanks are extended to Thijs Roos for his dedication and ingenuity in supporting us through this very stressful and transitional time; Camille Doucet for her diligence and meticulous work ethic in keeping us solvent; a warm appreciation to both Katharine McKenzie and Natasha Kusmuk for their enthusiasm and passion in making meaningful connections with our members and stakeholders; Manita Beskow and Joseph Caruso for both their long-serving contribution to this organisation, their guidance and invaluable wisdom during this difficult time; Teresa Lee for doing an amazing job these two years in bringing us and the community the UN Day event, our keystone fundraising event of the year; Jurgen Baumhoff for being relentless and determined in forge an alliance between us and the Rotary Club of Perth. As you will see in the rest of this report, the work of the many sub-committees is exemplary and the result of a truly outstanding level of dedication, commitment and hard work. The values with which everyone at the UNAAWA works with are the very ones the United Nations was set up to encourage, and it has been my honour to serve as your President throughout this year.

We also sincerely appreciate the support of our Parton, the Honourable Kim Beazley AC, Governor of Western Australia for his guidance and continued belief in our organization.

I would like to end with one key message. As we all know, the pandemic is still ravaging parts of our beautiful country, so I urge you all to continue look after yourselves and each other, to stay safe and be kind. There are still many challenging days ahead of us, so now more than ever we need to show compassion and solidarity with our neighbours, with our communities and with all our fellow Australians. For in the words of António Guterres, the Secretary-General of the United Nations, “none of us will be safe until all of us are safe.”

We are all in this together.

VICE PRESIDENTS REPORTS

MEMBERSHIP & VOLUNTEERS

The past 6 months have been challenging for so many of us, but we have remained connected through online events and most recently an in-person 'Networking for Change' event. We are delighted that despite the difficult times, we have retained so many committed members and volunteers, and attracted some wonderful new ones.

Our Networking for Change events have provided our members and newcomers with opportunities to grow their networks of passionate people that are engaged on the matters they care about and keen to make a collective difference. Many new connections have been made, ideas have been shared and collaborations are starting to take off.

Our dedicated volunteers have made invaluable contributions over the past year in delivering educational, thought provoking and inspiring events and programs. We are so grateful for their contributions and continued service.

To further enhance our volunteer engagement, we have appointed Pauline Zerolo as the new Volunteer Coordinator. Pauline has degrees in Political Science, International Relations and Psychology. She speaks fluent French and English and has been an enthusiastic volunteer on our SDG committee. We are delighted to have her on board.

Over the coming year, we will be holding more regular welcome sessions for new members and volunteers, and workshops to empower our members to drive the change they want to see in our community.

STRATEGY & EXTERNAL ENGAGEMENT

What was supposed to be a busy year for UNAAWA had turned into one that is of reflection and renewal of partnerships and relationships. Despite the challenges posed by the pandemic, we have pivot and adapted to using technologies to better understand and engage our internal and external stakeholders.

Stakeholders Engagement & Partnerships – Various forms of engagement have been initiated to support disadvantaged youth and CALD communities in WA. It is essential to continue our advocacy work in promoting diversity, inclusion, justice, community development and education. As such we have continued to connect and engage with the following organisations for the past 12 months: Zonta Club of Perth Inc, WA Police Force Senior Multicultural Women Leaders Advisory Group, the Organisation of African Communities in WA Management Committee, the University of Western Australia Young Alumni Network, the Department of Home Affairs, and the Museum of Freedom and Tolerance. We would also be working closely with the Edmund Rice Centre to bring artworks created by young people of the centre for exhibition and auction at the upcoming UN Day event. Other initiatives that would help develop community leadership with the youth would also been explored.

Communications – We have taken an increasingly active approach through greater engagement with our members and the public during the pandemic via our key social media channels such as the UNAAWA Facebook, reaching 2700 followers to date. We have also revamped our website and digitise content for wider outreach, sharing of knowledge and increasing accessibility of our work to the community. The need to improve our data analytics capability would help better support our membership base and better understand the changing stakeholders and community needs in times of recovery ahead.

Whilst we recognise that there has been drastic challenge in fundraising due to the crisis, it would be important for us to continue elevating UNAAWA's advocacy efforts, forming partnerships with value stakeholders to widen our outreach efforts and join forces with frontline providers so that those most affected by the pandemic are able to gain the support needed for recovery.

9. Partnerships for the Goals	Strategic collaboration advanced with Curtin Learning Futures, One World Centre, Sustainable Schools Alliance WA, Sense of Place Regional Centre of Expertise, WA SDG Network and Valuing Children Initiative. New partnerships negotiated with Project Management Institute, We Are Here!, and Student Edge.

10. Events	Led successful event celebrating International Day of Peace (22 September) including Partners in Peace Fair (with 12 other organisations) and Peace Ceremony (with Yolande Frank + Sustainability Awards presentations). Promoted UN and SDGs through events conducted by partner organizations – Mindarie SC + Lynwood SHS Sustainability Expos, Meerilinga Family Fun Day and Carine SHS Future 2040. UNAANA Global Goals Challenge: Mainstreaming ESD in Schools recognised as an Outstanding Flagship Project by UN University, Regional Centre of Expertise in ESD Hub Tokyo.

Highlights from the fourth year of implementing UNAANA School Programs seeking to empower our school students to be active global citizens:

- Implementing the UNESCO Framework for Global Citizenship Education by demonstrating how teachers may reframe (rather than reform) the Western Australian curriculum and add value through strengthening the socio-emotional and behavioural domains of student learning.
- Participating in the UNESCO Futures of Education initiative – "a global debate on how knowledge, education and learning need to be reimagined in a world of increasing complexity and uncertainty."
- Showcasing and promoting the work of school communities in advancing achievement of the UN 2030 Sustainable Development Goals and contributing directly to SDG 4 Quality of Education, Target 4.7 implementing Global Citizenship and Sustainability Education (including the themes of education for peace, human rights, gender equality and cultural diversity).
- Gaining international recognition for the interwoven strategies mainstreaming Education for Sustainable Development in schools through curricular (UNAANA Global Citizenship and Sustainability Program) and extracurricular (annual UNAANA Global Goals Challenge) programs. This included winning approximately $8 000 for UNAANA through the Global Challenges Foundation (Sweden) and achieving the highest level of recognition (Outstanding Flagship Project) through the UN University Regional Centre of Expertise Hub (Japan).
- Maintaining interactions with member schools in the face of the significant COVID-19 disruptions.
- Hosting 12 like-minded organisations and an audience of approximately 200 adults and children at the 2019 Partners in Peace Fair and Ceremony (International Day of Peace, Fremantle Town Hall).

"I have absolutely loved teaching the UNAANA Global Citizenship Program with my Year 12 class. I look forward to the class each week, as the students are actively engaged in meaningful learning where they are examining real-life issues and creating their own solutions that they can implement on a local/regional/global level. Students develop a deep understanding of the UN and SDGs and are able to connect them to their own community. Project based learning has enhanced students' enterprise skills as they collaborate with others to look at problems with critical and creative thinking skills to come up with possible solutions. This leads to the innovation of new products, designs and ideas. What I have loved the most is to see the development of self-confidence and a sense of empowerment within the students. They have taken ownership of not only their projects but also their curiosity and love of learning and realize that they have the power to make a difference." Michele Watson, Manea Senior College

Priorities for the future development of the UNAAWA school programs:

- Completing the new UNAAWA school programs website linked to the main UNAAWA website.
- Improving procedures for monitoring and managing school membership renewals.
- Developing online learning versions of UNAAWA school programs, particularly Kindergarten to Year 12 Global Citizenship and Sustainability curriculum packages developing student agency and global competence as defined by the UNESCO Framework for Global Citizenship Education and the OECD.
- Exploring the potential for integration and synergy with other SDG based school programs including Young Person's Plan for the Planet, Curtin University Balance of the Planet and STEM4Innovation.

*UNAAWA 2019 International Day of Peace celebration,
Fremantle Town Hall*

Peace Day Elm Dance - people concerned with and considering taking action to preserve life on earth

ENVIRONMENT COMMITTEE

The year began with Dr Marianne Dahle stepping down as Chair and the committee's Vice-Chair, Amanda Elizabeth moving into the position, with Dr Sonja Kuzich taking the role of Vice-Chair. With the restructuring of the committee also came a refocusing of our goals. We decided to encourage younger members, that were at the beginning of their careers, to join the committee. We did this by creating positions such as 'Youth Representative' and 'Communications Support'. The advantages of this were two-fold; it gave us an opportunity to form mentor-like relationships as well as have a stronger reach with younger audiences.

This first half of the year was spent managing the Covid situation and the transition to online events, the second half would seem much stronger for the Environment Committee with four events planned. Our first event for the year was the 'Children: Mind, Well-Being and Nature', organised by Dr Sonja Kuzich in conjunction with Curtin University. The conference discussed the impact nature has on the mental and physical health of children; a topic more pertinent than ever. With more than 120 registered participants, there is the potential for this to become an annual event for the committee.

With this in mind, we have also committed to ensuring a balance between corporate style events and events where we are outside, amongst the environment. This will allow us, and our members, to have positive, tangible effects on the environment, such as cleaning beaches and planting trees. With the weather warming and Covid restrictions easing this can now be achieved.

A major focus for the committee this year has been partnerships. By partnering with other like-minded organisations, we will gain further reach in both promoting the work of the UN and the UNAAAWA. Amanda set up a meeting with Zonta to discuss the opportunity of an organisational partnership, which is currently in discussion (with all parties positive to the idea). On a committee level, we have had discussions with GreenBatch, Reflections and the YMCA, all of which have agreed to partnering in the future.

Convener – Amanda Elizabeth BSc MScBiol

Deputy Convener – Dr Sonja Kuzich

HUMAN RIGHTS COMMITTEE

The Human Rights Committee with its present members commenced its work as of August 2020. The newly formed committee are made up of passionate individuals from Indigenous, Nigerian, Malaysian Indian, Singaporean Chinese, Filipino/Czech and French backgrounds.

Achievements over the past year:

- The President of UNAANA was invited by our community partner, Museum of Freedom & Tolerance, and the US Consulate to jointed support the Universal Declaration of Human Rights (UDHR) Day event n early December 2019. The event highlighted the plight of the Uyghur people in Western China.
- The previous committee put together “The Art of Storytelling’ Exhibition” at the Western Australian Shipwrecks Museum between late December 2019 to early March 2020
- In August and September 2020, The Committee selected 4 judges for the UN Day Human Rights Awards and submitted a total of 6 nominations for the Human Rights awards.
- Committee members, several members of the Human Rights award judging panel, including Indigenous representatives, supported and attended the UNAANA Networking for Change Sundowner event at the Duxton Hotel on 8 September 2020, bringing awareness to the cause of suicide prevention.

Looking ahead: 2020-2021

With a fresh insight into relevant issues, the committee brings forward a new vision into the possibilities for the future:

- The Committee will be participating at the 75th anniversary UN Day on 23rd October, brining awareness the importance of Human Rights to ensure that no one is left behind in the recovery from the COVID19 crisis.
- Winners of the Human Rights Awards on the UN Day will be featured and filmed so that champions could be promoted to regional parts of Australia via digital means.
- We will be supporting the Reconciliation Action Working Group to launch an event at next year’s United Nations Declaration on the Rights of the Indigenous People in 2021. The objective is to promote Australia’s commitment to improving the lives of our Indigenous peoples here in WA. This working group is currently convened by Katherine Grace Neaves and its members are made up of Indigenous representatives such as Dorinda Cox, Florence Drummond, and our very own Human Rights committee member, Kaisha Champion.
- We will continue to collaborate and work closely with our long-term partner, the Museum of Freedom & Tolerance, and the US Consulate, to celebrate another year’s milestone in the history of human rights - the Universal Declaration of Human Rights (UDHR) Day in early December. Do look out for the event announcement and we look forward to having your participation then.

The 'Art of Storytelling' Exhibition at the Shipwreck Museum

New Members of the Human Rights Committee at the Networking for Change Sundowner Event

Over the coming year, the Committee will place greater emphasis into community engagement, and to recognise a wider range of human rights work by committed persons across WA. The Committee will place greater emphasis on working with not-for-profit organisations in the cause of indigenous and migrant rights, homelessness, diversity and inclusions.

GENDER EQUALITY COMMITTEE

UNAAWA Gender Equality Committee Annual Report 2019-2020

The year has been a busy for the Gender Equality Committee, working toward promoting women’s rights, economic empowerment and leadership and preventing gender-based violence. Members met monthly to share progress and work toward a strategic focus of strengthening our community presence and bolstering the foundations from which we collaborate to maximise impact.

2019 Lynwood Senior High School Sustainability Expo

We were honoured to support the Education Reference Group at the 2019 Lynwood SHS Sustainability Expo. The Expo welcomed a crowd of students enthusiastic about sustainability and excited to make an impact. Our team joined in on the fun of an activity delivered by Education Reference Group which saw 218 students and a few teachers vote for their top three priority SDGs, with some interesting results. Students were optimistic for a sustainable future, which they largely credited to rise of technology and innovative responses to sustainability challenges.

International Day of Peace: Partners for Peace Fair

On the 22nd September the Gender Equality Committee was represented at the Partners for Peace Fair hosted by the UNAAWA at the Fremantle Town Hall. Organisations came together to recognise the importance of collective impact for developing solutions to global issues. A key feature of the day was the presentation of the Yolande Frank Art Awards, which saw students celebrated for their ability to turn their passion for human rights into inspiring artwork. Committee hosted a stall with a ‘Sweets for Peace’ activity which provoked curiosity about gender equality by having patrons craft lolly bags with a gender equality quote that resonated with them.

2019 UN Day Gala

The 2019 UN Day Gala saw a room full of Perth’s changemakers, sponsors and VIPs celebrate the outstanding contributions of local champions across human rights, environment, education and gender equality, as well as acknowledge the annual program of work delivered by the UNAAWA. 2019 delivered a high standard of gender equality achievements from members of the Perth community, particularly the Gender Equality Promotion Award finalists and winner Nanwen Souness (BHP), Jan Cooper (AFLW) and Marissa Verma (Bindi Bindi Dreaming).

Children's Week Family Fun Day

On Sunday the 22nd October, the Gender Equality Committee joined the Education Reference Group at the Children's Week Family Fun Day at Whiteman Park. The focus of the day was to use play to inspire and empower children to become active global citizens. The Gender Equality team engaged children in conversations about diversity and inclusion with a fun afternoon of arts and crafts to promote the message that individually we are beautifully unique, but together we make a masterpiece. Children were asked to decorate a cut-out of their hand and add it to the poster to demonstrate that embracing differences leads to creating something wonderful.

National Council of Women Australia Tri-annual Meeting

On the 28th October 2019 Gender Equality Committee Chair Hannah Brown was invited as a guest speaker at the National Council of Women Australia's tri-annual meeting in Perth. Facilitated by NCWA President Robyn Nolan, members identified and discussed various challenges and opportunities for women in the WA. Hannah spoke to the NCWA members about the work of the UNAOWA as well as the Gender Equality Committee's role in operationalising SDG 5 'Empower all women and girls' in WA.

International Observance Day for the Elimination of Violence against Women

On the 4th December 2019 the Gender Equality Committee hosted 'Equality for Safety' in recognition of the United Nations International Observance Day for the Elimination of Violence against Women. Attendees were educated about the realities of family and domestic violence and the role of gender equality for promoting safe communities. Panellists shared their insights on FDV strategy, policy and shared stories of lived experience. The impressive panel comprised Robyn Nolan President NCWA, Alicia Prescott FDV Specialist, Elanor Ingram Senior Policy Advisor Curtin University, and Azelene Williams Author and Co-Founder of Kidzucate.

Despite the COVID-19 crisis, the Gender Equality Committee continued efforts to educate the community on ways to improve outcomes for girls and women by embracing technology and digital platforms, including starting a YouTube channel. These platforms are now a part of our new normal and continue to be leveraged to maximise the reach of our messages and enhance the accessibility of our events.

COVID 19 Impact Panel Series: Human Rights and Gender Rights

What does a global pandemic mean for gender equality? This virtual panel co-developed with the UNAOWA Human Rights Committee focussed on the impacts of COVID-19 through a gender lens. Facilitated by UNAOWA Gender Equality Chair Hannah Brown and Events Manager Sephy Pariente, the panellists Natasha Kusmuk CEO Edmund Rice Centre WA and Muza Gondawe BHP Alliance Manager at Curtin University unpacked how health crises exacerbate inequalities and shared their insights on the critical considerations for developing solutions to complex problems for vulnerable girls and women. This discussion is available for viewing via our YouTube Channel.

The Gender Equality Virtual Leadership Series

Over a three-part virtual series, the Gender Equality Committee hosted an array of guests who shared their knowledge, observations and experiences in empowering girls and women in leadership. The series instalments followed a sequence representative of the critical markers of female leadership development; strengthening leadership in girls, empowering women in early career, and formalising gender equality in business practices to support women at work. This recorded series represents one of many that the team will deliver to facilitate community access to engaging discussions on gender equality. This series is still available to via registration at <https://events.humanitix.com/gender-equality-leadership-series>

Looking ahead: 2020-2021

The immediate focus for the Gender Equality Committee is preparing for the 2020 UN Day Gala and our November event in recognition of the International Elimination of Violence Against Women.

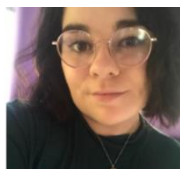

Our goals for 2020-2021 pertain to building on our existing capabilities to strengthen and sustain:

- the focus on the intersectionality of gender equality,
- reach into regional and remote areas, and
- partnerships with organisations to create opportunities to maximise the collective impact for addressing inequalities faced by girls and women.

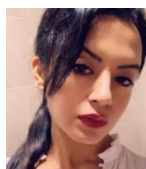

We are excited for our upcoming events and we look forward to another year working alongside our members and the community.

UNAA YOUNG PROFESSIONALS REPORT

2019 UNAA Young Professionals WA Excellence Award

17 PARTNERSHIPS
FOR THE GOALS

The 2019 UNAA Young Professionals (WA) Award is dedicated to the UN Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), that aim to achieve a better and more sustainable future for all. They address the global challenges that we face, including those related to poverty, inequality, climate, environmental degradation, prosperity, peace and justice.

JUNE 2020 - WORLD CAFÉ SERIES

On the 9th of June 2020, the UNAA WA YP's held a virtual event via Zoom called the 'World Cafe Series'. This first virtual event explored the impacts and opportunities created by COVID-19.

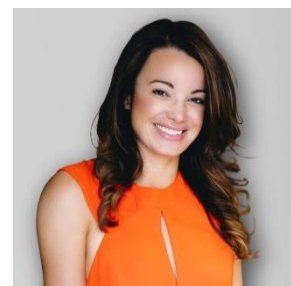

The format of the event was a panel discussion moderated by UNAA WA YP President, Neesha Seth. The panellists were a diverse group of business and community leaders from across the world including Michael Sheldrick, Chief Policy Officer at Global Citizen; Dr Zarra Torre, Chief Executive Officer at The Difference; Tom Goerke, lead for Cisco's Australian Innovation Centres; and Ayden Doohan, Hospital Project Lead for St John of God Healthcare. The panel discussion explored a number of issues covering the personal, community, and business impacts of the global COVID-19 pandemic.

The second part of the event commenced at the conclusion of the panel discussion and allowed the audience to get a little more involved in the discussion process. During the ticket purchase process, we asked which SDG most resonated with that attendee. We used this data to assign attendees into breakout rooms on Zoom to further discuss that particular SDG in small groups where everyone had the opportunity to voice their opinions and experiences. Each of these breakout rooms was moderated by a mentor chosen by the UNAA WA YP committee based on their alignment with each SDG. The main purpose of the breakout rooms was to discuss the ways in which we can all operationalise the Sustainable Development Goals (SDG's) during COVID-19.

Overall, the UNAA WA YP team were happy with the overall attendance with 78 attendees plus mentors and panellists. Feedback from the event was largely positive with attendees interested in attending more events of a similar nature. To improve the next event of this nature, we would recommend reducing the amount of time allocated to the panel discussion portion of the event and increasing the time allocated to the breakout rooms to give attendees more opportunity to dive deeper into the SDG discussion.

SDG BUSINESS FORUM SERIES COMMITTEE

The UNAAWA held two SDG Business Forums for the year 2020 on 26 February and 5 August. One was titled “Achieving SDGs and Impact on Business Transformation”, sponsored and hosted at Ernst & Young Perth, the other digitally on the topic of “Accelerating Innovation & SDGs – Post-COVID Recovery for WA”. Both events were well-attended by members, professionals and stakeholders in the business and public sectors. Due to the crisis, only the first event was conducted in-person and it helped generated funds. The second event was decidedly made complimentary to viewers online for the benefit of the community in Perth and regional business communities.

Both panel discussions were led by the Founder of the forum series and President of UNAAWA, Dr Sandy Chong. Speakers for the first forum included: Michele Villa (Founder of NexStep), Jessica Shaw (MLA of Swan Hills) and Adam Carrel (Partner of EY Perth). The second digital forum had Dr Marcus Tan (Founder, CEO and Medical Director at HealthEngine), Cettina Raccuia (Capability Manager for RAC WA), and Elizabeth Brennan (Non-executive Director for Wide Open Agriculture).

The speakers talked about the necessity of bringing changes into the current ways of doing business and the challenges that they need to overcome to achieve sustainability. Despite the advanced technology, the speakers pointed out that businesses need more innovative ideas, strong leadership, and enduring risk-taking ability – an approach which the non-profit sector could also adopt in order to survive and fast-changing environment. Businesses could also set great corporate citizenship example by standing up against norms that do more harm than good for the communities and environment one operates in.

The SDG Business Forum panel sessions with speakers Michele Villa (NexStep), Jessica Shaw (MLA of Swan Hills) and Adam Carrel (EY Perth) at EY Perth on the 26 February 2020.

While the Covid-19 has had a severe impact globally, there have been positive impacts that the panellists observed and shared with the community. As one speaker pointed out, the power of people has been very positive and essential to change management and digital transformation. Most importantly, the key message that we took from both forums is the need to transform and embrace innovative solutions to overcome the ongoing setbacks in the business environment and how innovation can bring about change to accelerate the adoption of SDGs for most industries.

UN DAY COMMITTEE

UN DAY 2019

UN DAY GALA EVENING 2019

On Friday 25th October, UNAAWA celebrated United Nations Day with its 2019 Gala Evening at the Duxton Hotel Perth. With 250 participants from local communities, UNAAWA members, partners and sponsors, the evening celebrated the anniversary of UN Day by recognising local champions who are making impact in the areas of Human Rights, Environment, Gender Equality, Education and Young Professionals. The 2019 Gala also commemorated the centenary of the International Labour Organisation (ILO), which has advocated for the power of people and the importance of work since 1919.

UNAAWA President Dr Sandy Chong, opened the evening with her remarks on UN Day and ILO. Follow by keynote speeches from West Coast Eagles AFLW Player Dana Hooker and Member for Mount Lawley Simon Millman, MLA.

The children's book 'Fairy Tales for a Fairer World', which re-thinks traditional tales to reflect today's global challenges and SDGs, was launched at the Gala. The book was well-received and was recently purchased by members of public and UNAABA at the Rotary Club of Perth and Members networking events.

The UN Day 2019 Gala was funded by Lotterywest and other sponsors. Together with ticket sales, over A$10,000 raised toward the continuing work of UNAABA.

The UN Day Gala Evening is more than an evening of joy and photo opportunities. It is a time of recognition, reflection and reaffirmation. As long as we continue to put UNAABA's agenda ahead of us, we will make a real impact together. Thank you to all members of the UN Day Planning Committee and all volunteers for their dedication toward the success of the UN DAY Gala Evening 2019.

UN DAY 2020

UN DAY EVENT 2020

The objective of UNAABA is to inspire, inform and engage all West Australian in promoting matters focussing on education, human rights, gender equality, environment and young professional.

UN Day 2020 Event is an opportunity to celebrate individuals and organisations in Western Australia who made an impact in the community in the past 12 months, especially during COVID-19 which the community is experiencing. We are proud to announce that a $9000 Lotterywest grant has been secured to deliver the event. This will provide a much-needed opportunity for the community to reconnect and share the spirit of camaraderie, providing further dialogue of support for our community post event.

The UN and UNAABA is marking its 75th anniversary at a time of great disturbance, impacted by the COVID-19 Pandemic. UN Day 2020 will observe our works in the past, underscore our current agendas and discuss our future priorities to make better impact for our local communities.

Two events are underway:

1. Digital event will premiere on the 15 October via Youtube
2. In-person event on 23 October at Duxton Hotel Perth
 - UN Day 2020 Digital Event featuring Awards Presentations, VIPs speeches and works UNAABA achieves in the past, present and future. We anticipate the event to be available for people in Perth metropolitan and regional areas.
 - UN Day 2020 in-person event featuring series of art displays by local artist and children, that connect people experiencing the impacts of social isolation and to highlight the 17 Sustainable Development Goals.
 - The events are for all people, young and old, people with disability, those who are disadvantaged or experienced difficulties during COVID-19. This event would also engage our volunteers, the Indigenous community, representatives from governments, educational institutions, sporting organisations, NGOs, cultural and business associations in WA.

Goals

- Build a stronger sense of community through the event, continue with meaningful conversation post event through forums and networking events.
- Connect the Community through physical event as restriction eases. COVID-19 WA Roadmap: Phase 4.
- Engage the wider community (regional) who are not able to travel to Perth (via digital event) and promote UNAAWA membership.
- Promote Art works featuring 17 Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) by various children organised by Edmund Rice Foundation.
- Raise fund toward the continuing work of UNAAWA.

GLOBAL PERSPECTIVE

From the UNAAWA Global Representative

The previous year has been a difficult period both in Australia and Overseas. The United Nations and all its agencies have never been under so much global scrutiny, embracing international concern of sovereign military, political global power, Indo-China disagreements so close to our Australian homeland are indeed worrying to our security.

The further continuing concerns of environmental compliance, peace, trade, human rights alignments, military conflicts continue to rage mainly in the country's experiences with severe poverty and child labour. These trigger serious social Human Rights displacement and abhorrent living standards beyond imagination.

A Crippling Pandemic Coronavirus Like No Other Strikes Unexpectedly

Moreover, since March 2020, Covid-19 pandemic having inflicted unprecedented social and economic impacts globally. This is compounded by the lack of human, physical contact due to isolation and lockdowns on a global scale. The UN WHO is under extreme duress in coming to grips with the Covid -19 outbreak and pressure to provide vaccine to protect the very vulnerable.

In Australia our Federal, territory and State Governments continue to face challenging social and economic conditions to contain the spread and repair a devastating national economy not evidenced since war. Amongst other priorities such as continued national de-carbonization, climate legislation on emissions reduction and protection of the natural environments, there are crisis relating to migration, refugee's asylum, nation health, education, homeland security while aiming on the Sustainable Development Goals. This remains an evolving challenge for governments, NGOs and institutional leaders. At the UNAAWA we must rise to the challenges of the UN mission and play our small part.

The GLOBAL ARENA, HOME AND OUR UNAAWA MISSION

WFUNA United Nations General Assembly, Security Council, UN Agencies and key member country of the UN, and its global alliances continue to advance and pursue the course of humanity for 'a better world' as enshrined in the UN SDGs.

My international and Australian attendance at invited meetings, seminars and events continued in the spirit of goodwill, to promote our cause and maintain keen engagement with executive colleagues and peers across various sectors in the community.

There is a time to reflect on the commitment of the UNAAWA executive, office bearers, committees and members for volunteering their time and energy, the ethos we possess given to such a worthy cause, and would like to commend the work done that allow the UNAAWA to flourish in a difficult world.

Special Mention to Long-Standing Returned and Services League (RSL) Commitment

I have, for almost two decades represented our organisation and shall continue to represent the UNAAWA in commemorating ANZAC Day and Remembrance Day at wreath laying ceremonies.

The privilege of invitation to ANZAC memorial National Anzac interactive Centre at Mt. Clarence Albany where many young soldiers departed in 1914 for Gallipoli and never returned home remains one of the most poignant, heart-felt moment for me. We all pray that wars will never reoccur.

Finally, as a committed Executive Member of UNAAWA, and in support of our core UN values, I would like to emphasise that we are all part of the United Nations global mission, vision and agenda. We need to make our voice known for a better humanitarian world. The volunteering commitment that our team demonstrates is evident and is silently appreciated in our community. Never lose sight of this mission.

I look forward to continue serving UNAAWA.

Joseph A. Caruso - UNAAWA Global Representative

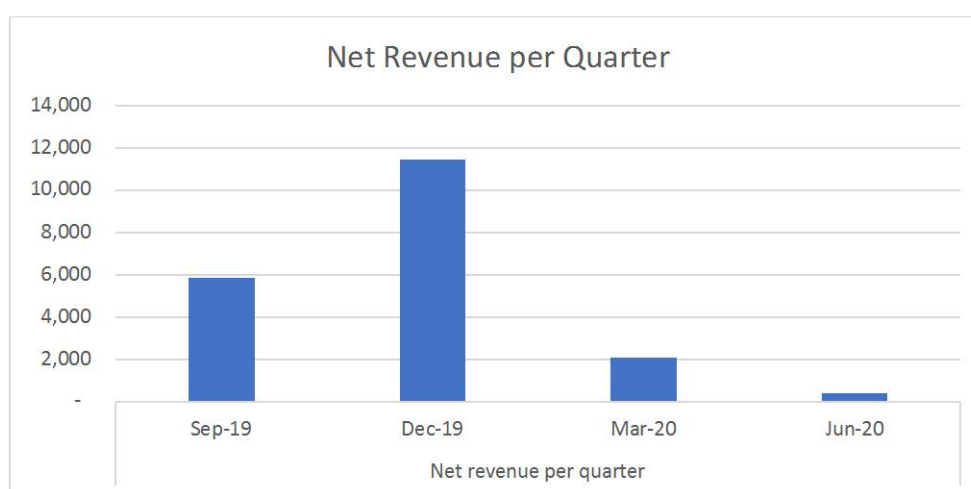

TREASURER'S REPORT

Treasurer's report for the year ended 30 June 2020

I, Camille Doucet being the Treasurer of the United Nations Association of Australia WA Division Inc., certify that:

The statements attached to this annual report give a true and fair view of the financial position and performance of the United Nations Association of Australia WA Division Inc. during and at the end of the financial year of the association ending on 30 June 2020.

As shown in the graph below, the Associations' net revenue per quarter has dramatically decreased in the third and fourth quarters of the year. The net revenue generated from the first and second quarters account for 88% of the total net revenue for the year. This decline is mostly attributable to the cancellation of physical events to comply with governmental restrictions and ensure the good health and safety for all.

Anticipating the decline in revenue from fundraising streams, it was decided to terminate the office lease with the Claisebrook Lotteries House Association (CLHA). The CLHA has graciously agreed to terminate the lease without imposing any penalties for early termination. By digitalising the Association's office, the estimated yearly savings are of approximately $4,000, which account for roughly 40% of the Association's total yearly operating costs. Another way to mitigate this challenge has been to obtain financial support from Lotterywest to assist the Association in covering its operating costs. A grant of $7,450 was received in June 2020.

Despite the challenges that the Association has faced throughout the year, the financial situation of the organisation is healthy and adequate for its current needs.

RSM Australia Partners have agreed to audit the accounts of the Association for the year ended 30 June 2020, pro-bono. The audit work is scheduled to commence in November 2020. It is planned to place the audited financial report on the Association's website upon conclusion of the audit.
